Fans encouraged to welcome home basketball team

The Dominion Post

Local women's groups are encouraging area basketball fans to join them at the WVU Coliseum this evening to welcome the WVU women's basketball team back to town.

According to the WVU sports information office, the team is expected back at about 7 p.m. today.

Former Delegate Barbara Fleischauer, one of those organizing the welcome home, urged families to bring their sons and daughters to express Mountaineer pride in what the team has accomplished.
